A wide-angle photograph of a modern rooftop terrace. The terrace floor is paved with large, rectangular, light-brown stone tiles. A pergola structure with white metal beams and a white fabric canopy is partially visible on the left. Two square skylights are set into the floor. The terrace is bordered by a low, bright yellow wall. In the background, a dense urban landscape of Rome is visible under a clear blue sky with scattered white clouds. Notable landmarks include the dome of St. Peter's Basilica and the Temple of Antonine and Faustina. A satellite dish is mounted on a nearby building.
